SILVER CUP FOR PRESIDENT

Mr. Taft Has His First Real Rest Since He Left His Brother's Banch in Texas - Wasn't Even Asked for a Sermon - An Augusta Democrat's Estimate.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 7 .- For President Taft this has been a day of real rest, the first he has had since he left his brother's ranch in Texas two weeks or more ago. Augusta has tried to make the Presider feel like an old homecomer instead of visitor, and with rare consideration refrained from asking him to deliver a single Sunday sermon.

The President attended service at the thurch of the Good Shepherd at Summer ville this morning. That is the church that the President and his family attended while they were living here last winter, and Mr. Taff felt thoroughly at He knew most of the congrega tion and stopped to shake hands with them. The President also greeted the rector the Rev. William Johnson, before the service.

The President was the guest of Langdon Thomas at luncheon. He and Mrs. Taft stopped at the Thomas home for several days last winter before they moved into their own cottage. Mr. Thomas had twenty-five Augustans at the luncheon. They presented a silver cup to the President bearing this inscrip-

"18 holes-88."

This inscription refers to the best record of the President over the Augusta golf course. The President acknowledged that the day on which he made that score was his happiest in Augusta, and he also remarked at the time that he did not know whether he would rather have covered the course in 88 or been elected Presiden of the United States.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon Major J B. Cummings, at whose home the President is stopping, gave an informal recep-

To-morrow morning the President will try his hand again on the Augusta "sand reens" and in the afternoon he will open the Georgia-South Carolina fair. The Augusta Chronicle, an influential emocratic paper, to-day expressed the city's affection for Mr. Taft in this way: Settling among the people here, he became one of them. He visited in the homes of Augustans; he partook of their hospitality and went freely among them, spreading good cheer and good will. He proved himself most democratic of them

In the private home and at the public function his was a message of good fellowship. He proved himself a big hearted, broad minded American citizen. He won the confidence and esteem of our people. His good nature, his urbanity, his evident pleasure and enjoument in the opportunity to mingle with and to become one of the people here—all of these chings endeared him to us and we have looked upon him personally more intimately and more fondly than have other citizens of the South.

"Leaving us and taking up the important duties at Washington to which he had been called by the American people, he did not forget Augusta or Augustans. He has time and again referred to this city and to its citizens in the most pleasant manner and since he has been President he has done much to cement the warm he has done much to cement the warm friendships that have been formed for him here by all of the people in every station in life."

The President will leave this city at a clock to-morrow afternoon for Florence, S. C. Only two more stops remain for him after the Florence engagement— at Wilmington, N. C., and Richmond, Va. The President will arrive at the White House at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday eve-House at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, but his stay there will be brief. On the next day he will take the road again on a brand new trip—to Middletown and Hartford, Conn. A few days later he is scheduled to visit Norfolk, Va., and a little later he will speak at one or two other pleaes. It looks as if he would be on the go pretty much until the opening of Congress.

ROME. Nov. 7.-Mr. Garrett, American Chargé d'Affaires, has received a telegran from Mr. Tarlton at Nairobi, saying that he has not yet been able to get into communication with Col. Roosevelt, who is hunting in the interior, away from the railway. Mr. Tarlton ascertained, however, that no telegram relating to Mr. Roosevelt's illness or death had been sent from the Protectorate during the last few days. Hence it is obvious that the rumors that harm had befallen the ex-President are untrue unless a secret code was used.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who is visiting here is now reassured and is convinced that the reports are baseless. She is not alarmed, but she received no reply to the telegram she sent her husband. This is easily accounted for however by the fact that Mr. Roosevelt is a considerable distance away from any telegraph line

WAR ON THE TRANSFER ABUSE

METROPOLITAN BECEIVERS PRO-POSE TO CAUSE ARRESTS.

For One Thing They Mean to Get After the People Who Sell Transfers or Give Them Away as Premiums—Warning Notices to Be Posted in Cars To-day

The Metropolitan Street Railway Company's receivers are about to undertake a vigorous campaign to stop transfer abuses. A large corps of lawyers and detectives has been organized for this special purpose.

Notices are to be posted in all the care of the system to-day to the effect that those violating the law respecting transfers can be indicted and convicted for conspiracy even though the conspiracy has not been fully executed, also that conviction may mean as much as a year in prison and a fine of $500. Oren Root, manager for the receivers. said yesterday that of the 400,000,000 passengers carried annually about onethird ride on transfers.

"While it is undoubtedly true," said Mr. Root, "that the great majority of the travelling public would not stoop to dishonesty, it is at once manifest that even if a relatively small part of the number of passengers carried impose on the transfer privilege the resulting finan-cial loss to the surface railroads will amount to many hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

"A very great proportion of this abuse cannot be corrected because of the existing, statute, the observance of which under the interpretation of the courts necessarily involves the creation of conditions favorable to imposition, such as for instance, the possibility of a passenger riding eastward and westward again on the crosstown lines for a limit-less number of times after he has paid his initial fare. There is, however, a certain proportion of transfer abuse covered by the Penal Code, such as the presentation of transfers which have become obsolete, the mutilation of transfers (extending the period of their validity by pasting a P. M. time limit section over an A. M. time limit section or the closing up of a hole punched for a certain hour and the punching of a hole for a later hour), the exchanging of transfers in department stores, at bootblack stands, news stands, salcons, cigar stores and other convenient points, the sale of transfers or their gift as a gratuity for the purpose of inviting trade or other respectives.

other convenient points, the sale of transfers or their gift as a gratuity for the purpose of inviting trade or other reasons, and finally the use of transfers thus illegally obtained. All these are violations of the Penal Code, purishble by fine or imprisonment or both.

"While investigations indicate that to a large extent these illegal practices are being followed by persons who are fully aware of the nature of their acts and possible consequences, it is also apparent. fully aware of the nature of their acts and possible consequences, it is also apparent that certain individuals do not understand the serious character of their offences, and inasmuch as there is no desire to involve such porsons in difficulties before the whole subject has been given wide publicity, it has been decided to post in a conspicuous place in all the cars notices calling attention to the law and penaltics for violation thereof, together with a statement of the intention to prosecute offenders."

While the law covering abuses of the transfer system has been on the statute books some time new the railroad companies have not had violators arrested to any great extent heretofore. It was said yesterday that the special secret service corps which the Metropolitan has organcorps which the detropolitan has organized has orders to make arrests in every case and that when such cases are taken to court lawyers for the company will be on hand to ask for convictions. The business of selling transfers is said to be well organized and this is what the company hopes first to put a stop to.

His entire estate is valued at $60,000,000 and it is estimated conservatively that one-fifth of the residuary estate will net the university probably $2,250,000.

"With this enormous gift at their disposal the trustees, it is expected, will be able to place the finances of the university on a sound basis, and at the same time provide for the erection of one or more proposed university buildings. It is thought that the completion of University Hall at a cost of $1,000,000 will be one of the first improvements undertaken."

The trustees will hold their next meeting on the first Monday of December, when it is believed the disposition of the Kennedy gifts will be considered.

NORTH DAKOTA'S TESTS. She Has Been Successful in All Thus Far Injured Man Dead

BOSTON, Nov. 7.-The turbine battleship North Dakota completed her twentyfour hour run at twelve knot speed early this morning and after remaining anchored off Boston light while fires were being cleaned and machinery tinkered up she started out for another full day's run, during which she must maintain a speed of nineteen knots.

Verious tests, such as consumption of fuel, oil, &c., were made while the warship steamed leisurely back and forth off the Massachusetts coast yesterday and last night. During the run 106.2 tons of coal was burned under the boilers, which is about five tons less than was required to furnish steam for the reciprocating engines in the sister ship Delaware when she recently took a similar test. It required a fraction more than 143 turns of the propellers a minute to push the lawn in front of the "Farmhouse," as Mr. North Dakota through the water at a twelve knot clip and her other tests were all within the requirements of the specifications.

DELICATE OPERATION ON MID-SHIPMAN WILSON.

Part of Broken Vertebree Removed Surgeons Say Operation Was Success and Hope for Recovery Grows.

ANNAPOLIS. Nov. 7 .- A most delicate peration was performed successfully this afternoon upon Midshipman Earl broken in the football game on October 16. The lamina, or outer covering, was cut away from four of the vertebræ in order to remove pressure on the spinal cord, and the covering of the spinal cord was removed and the cord thoroughly inspected. Parts of the fractured bone from the fifth vertebra were removed, but it was found that the greatest injury to the cord had been occasioned by a dislocation of the fourth vertebra. The cord was found to be intact, though in very bad condition at the point of injury. It is believed that all pressure has been removed and that Wilson's chances for ultimate recovery are greatly improved. The operation began about 2 o'clock and was not completed until nearly 5. Within an hour Wilson had almost completely recovered consciousness and was talking intelligently.

The operation was performed by Surgeon C. F. Stokes, assisted by Surgeons J. H. Iden, E. L. Wood and George F. Cottle, all members of the naval medical staff. The following bulletin announced the result of the operation: "The operation was a success in every way. The laminæ of the sixth, fifth, fourth and third vertebræ were removed and the pressure due to the fragments of the fractured fifth vertebra was relieved.

The operation took place after a consultation held this morning and with the full approval of Midshipman Wilson himself and his father, West B. Wilson of Covington, Ky., who is here.

UTICA, Nov. 7.—Joseph Pickering, the seventeen-year-old Casenovia Seminary student who suffered a fractured vertebra in a football game at Hamilton yesterday, was operated upon at Faxton Hospital in this city to-day, and the surgeons to-night say there is a bare possibility that he will survive.

Dr. J. M. Glass performed the operation, assisted by several other surgeons. The boy was on the operating table an hour, and the knife disclosed that both sides of the arch of the seventh cervicular vertebra had been broken and the spinal cord badly lacerated.

The pressure on the spinal cord was removed and subsequently the patient showed improvement, suffering very little pain and regaining full consciousness. The paralysis of the limbs and trunk continues, but the surgeons say this was expected at this stage of the boy's condition. The doctors, while admitting that the sufferer's injury is a most desperate one and that but very few persons similarly injured survive, say he has a chance, possibly one in a hundred.
